MEMORANDUM FOR: Acting Director of Central Intelligence

VIA: Deputy Director for Administration
Executive Director

STAT FROM:

Director of Training and Education

SUBJECT: Meeting with Rudiger Dornbusch

1. The Office of Training and Education (OTE) would like to invite you to attend the first presentation of our "Distinguished Economist Lecture Series." This series is a new program to bring in experts on major economic issues to talk to an Agency audience consisting of senior economists and officials responsible for economic analysis.

2. To kick off the "Distinguished Economist Lecture Series," we have invited Professor Rudiger Dornbusch of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to speak on "The United States in the World Economy." In his talk, Professor Dornbusch will explain his views on why the dollar is overvalued and what the United States should do about it. He will also explain why he is skeptical of the view that somehow the United States and the debtor nations can simply "muddle through" the next debt crisis, and he will offer an alternative approach. Professor Dornbusch's opening remarks will last about 45 minutes, and he will take follow-up questions on the international problems facing the U.S. economy.

3. Professor Dornbusch is highly regarded in academic, business, and government circles for his work on exchange rate problems, stabilization policies, and trade theory. In addition to teaching at MIT, Professor Dornbusch serves as a consultant for several leading business firms and as an editor for two international economic journals. His advice on economic policy issues has been sought by Congress on many occasions.

4. Your presence at this lecture on these critical intelligence issues would give the overall program a good send-off. Recognizing that you have a tight schedule, the following options are available:

☒ I will attend the lecture in the DCI Conference Room on Monday, 20 April 1987 at 1500 hours;

and/or

☐ I will attend the reception in the Executive Dining Room from 1700 to 1900 hours;

☐ I would prefer to meet with Professor Dornbusch in my office between the lecture and the reception;

☐ I will be unable to attend the function or meet with the Professor.
